

Second Place: Poetry

"In the End"

By Mara Foutz

If the world was ending

Would you still be living

Acting as if all was fine

Making new memories

Not trying to define

Any new remedies

Would you be like me?

Consumed by thinking

Would you still be searching

Trying to find

The reason you were alive

Could you make up your mind

Would you still try and apologize

